

Lipotechnica is concerned with ethical and humanitarian issues, we have developed a special program that extends our philosophy.

Shortly, we will provide space in a humanitarian act program specifically designed for obese women who want to find their ideal body through an idealistic act.

Interested parties will have to allocate time to a 4-month program where they will undergo a hormone treatment of Oxytocine to promote the lactating activity and also undergo training in breast-feeding of children in famine stricken areas in Africa. The stay will take place on Lipotechnica newly created ecofriendly Spa Resort in Mozambique where participants will get the lucrative spa treatments with our own beauty products and discover the enchanting wildlife. The program is constructed to give optimum results and the participants will undergo surveillance of nutritional experts, psychologists and personal trainers to promote a lasting change of body and mind in the long term after the program.
